Coaches Report:

Given what was at stake; 4 points, 3 wins in a row and keep the momentum going into the second half of the year, beat a team in the top 3, beat YCW, put a game + percentage gap on the other 3 teams all vying for a spot in the top 5, gain some much needed credibility and respect, I expected a better performance as I'm sure our supporters would have too. We achieved none of the above and in particular we lost any respect we may have had. This hurts the most. In fact we have gone backwards if anything and as one journalist described us during the week in the local paper; Karingal are a bunch of 'down hill skiers' and not worthy of fifth spot on the ladder. We have earned the tag as down hill skiers and it does not sit well with me. It is a far way off from wanting to be described as Ruthless United Hard. We have a lot of work to do if we want to be a respected group of men within the football community. When the game was there to be won in the first quarter we were left wanting. YCW were more desperate, were first in for the ball and were able to kick easy goals. The first qtr should have been a shit fight given the atrocious conditions and the fact that it was 4th playing 3rd; however we allowed the opposition to build a strong lead. We were physically and mentally weak and it showed that it was more important to the YCW players than it was to ours, otherwise we would have been more ferocious and desperate to win the ball. Callan Dixon, Luke Adams, Troy Farrelly, Brendan Dunne and David Hirst battled hard all day however with little support from their teammates, 5 V 22 quality opposition is an impossible task. We take on Langwarrin who will be keen to make up for their round 3 effort so we need to bounce back quickly to keep our finals aspirations alive. I think we are able to do it but question whether we are all willing to do whatever it takes to finish the home and away season as a Ruthless United and Hard team. We have an opportunity tomorrow through our actions to prove the doubters wrong. Pecko

Reserves – 8th

Karingal 3. 2 20

Frankston YCW 6. 10. 46

Best: D. Measham, J. Martinson, M. Jakobi, T. Allcott, G. Goodall

Coaches Report:

This week we met our old rival YCW. They were keen to make amends for losing to us in round 2 where we won by a point. For us it was a rare opportunity to beat the old rival twice in one year. In shocking conditions made worse by the state of the ground. YCW were able to adapt to the conditions much quicker than us and once again we gave an opposition an easy head start. Our commitment to our benchmarks, our unaccountability and our inability to play in front on a wet and windy day gifted them a 20 point lead at quarter time. Although we improved in the last three quarters and battled on manfully to maintain the deficit. We never really looked like eating into their lead and making a real game of it.

This week we meet Langwarrin in a make or break contest for us. They are in really good form at the moment so we will need to be at our best. Let's take our learning's from last week's game into this contest.

LAST WORD

- Great to see all the current and past players enjoying themselves at the 40th anniversary celebrations on Sat night. In particular it was fantastic to see a couple of our present day players who also happen to be brothers openly displaying their love and affection towards their respective girlfriends. Holding hands, cuddling, whispering in the ears and even shoulder massages seemed to be the order of the night, all of which is very romantic however probably more sickening for the rest of us that had to be subjected to the embarrassing display. Keep it for the couch on a Sunday afternoon boys.
- Wally... Blindest by a mile??? Couldn't even work out how to put his suit jacket back on which kept us entertained for about 5 minutes. This was followed by a home spew but backed it up. At the RSL in the morning when helping clean up by taking his time to throw up again by skip bins – What a sight – Great Day for Wally with Cats losing also.
- Rowey..Coming all the way from WA for the reunion – Wearing the Lucky red short and totally the fashionista of the night – Unfortunately Doug Scott got injured and couldn't make it with his Scarves collections.. But unbelievable commitment and appreciated.
- Everyones favourite painter had come to the finish of a loan a couple of weeks ago thinking he now owned his beloved car... until the finance company put in a call asking for the balloon payment. Now this painter firmly believed he owned the car and upon being read documents re the balloon, tried to negotiate the balloon payment... meanwhile car has been repossessed. Oops!
- Bobcat: went to decksys last Saturday night, before making his way to deckas he brought a slab of Cacsade from the bottle shop. As nimble as a cat he replaced the inside of the slab with jim beam..... and got the slab for $37. Wooshka
- Deksy spent the whole night trying to court a new girl, one of big Faz's missus' friends..So Deksy put on the charm, spent a bucket load of cash, and ended up taking her up to CQ.Upon arriving, Deksy bought the young lass a shot and a drink, in which she kindly accepted. The downed the shot, took the drink, and headed off with another bloke! Not deterred though, Deksy went back to the lovely lasses home with Big Faz and his missus, but without his target. He then sent her a message letting her know Deksy was at home waiting for her, before she strolled in with another bloke to see Deksy passed out on the couch!
- Anyone see Gagey senior fall over after the bar gave way on him on Saturday night?
- Anyone else noticed that when Simmo gets drunk he has a voice like Darren Lockyer?
- Wal – how bout those Cats.... yippeeeee
